RESOURCES

Differences of Zentangle and Zen Meditation- <https://zentangle.com/blogs/blog/ten-to-zen>

Tangle List: This is an interesting site developed by a Zentangle enthusiast. She included links to all the “official tangles,” pattern step-outs, portable kits, strings, challenges, creative prompts tile options, etc. <https://tanglelist.com>

Tangle Patterns- Created by Linda Farmer, this collection of tangles has links to more than 1000 patterns and stepouts, including all the (released) “official” ones. The site also includes string patterns, subscription for a free weekly newsletter (worth its weight in gold), etc. If you purchase her yearly edition of the TANGLE GUIDE (PDF) it provides you with hot links to the tangles directly from your computer or tablet desktop and enables you or print the physical book: www.TanglePatterns.com

Zentangle Headquarters- Free blog and newsletters, sample art from the founders Maria Thomas & Rick Roberts, and the official Zentangle store, etc.: www.zentangle.com

GUIDED TANGLING- These wonderful, calming Zentangle meditations have been released since the beginning of this Covid pandemic.

- Voice Guided Tangle Lesson #1 with Molly Hollibaugh

Since you have finished this class, I recommend you begin just after the 8-minute mark
